

Lori,

I just want you to know that you are very goal oriented things, plus self therapy. But you've done a few other court ordered things, but you've inspired me when I first found out I had to come, but you're so non-judgmental, and honestly helped me. Having these classes was pretty much so! Having these classes was pretty much so! Very understanding, and that helps people more than many think. You're energy is awesome and you're all destined for so many things with helping people like me. Believe in yourself!

I am truly glad to have met you!

When I painted this one day and a letter I was wanting to write you it would be seen it and thought ~~it~~ kool!
